

Higher education in Russia Part I: History of the present, 10 May 2022

00:25:05 Anna Smolentseva: Привет, Ray. How are you?

00:36:57 Marta Kozłowska: An interesting point on 'the whole person education'. Re: Jesuit education in the Middle Ages. For the sake of clarity only. The SJ was a part of the counterreformation movement - they were approved in 1540. However we could see even earlier attempts to shape the entire person (through education as well) dating back to antiquity, across cultures, too.

00:53:30 Simon Marginson: It is time now to think about your questions for the Q&A - bring them forward to the Chat, the Q&A will happen after our two discussants

00:56:25 Marta Kozłowska: Thank you for this interesting presentation - today I've got to leave earlier for 14.45 mtg.

00:56:38 Alan Moore: I know Issac is giving an overview and brilliantly so. Though I'd like to hear his view on the overall confusion or Internationalisation and Export education - where students arrived into a void which internationalisation was to be waiting. (ie recruitment was all important but universities/colleges stopped there).

00:58:02 Magdalena Gaete: Thank you for your presentation,

01:09:32 CGHE Webinars: Thank you for joining us today. A recording of this session will be on the CGHE site tomorrow: <https://www.researchcghe.org/events/cghe-seminar/higher-education-in-russia-part-i-history-of-the-present/>
