

Patterns and Dynamics in the International Research Collaborations: A Case of China-UK Collaboration Ties in Education Studies, 20 January 2022

00:41:22 Simon Marginson: It's time now to begin preparing your questions and statements for Kexin. Bring them forward to the Chat

00:48:13 Vincent Carpentier: How specific is education compared to other subjects? Is there a link between student mobility between the UK and China? ie: Chinese students in the UK returning to work in the HE sector

00:51:40 Punita Lumb: This was a great presentation, thank you for sharing your research. I'm wondering about the connection between your earlier notes on diversifying epistemic routes and your findings. Were participants able to articulate this in your interviews? Also, are you assuming that diverse co-authorships implies diversity of epistemological approaches?

01:02:13 Anoud Abusalim: Thank you for a very interesting presentation. I have a three-part question.

1)- What about the experiences of social scientists in China? Do they publish locally, but perish globally? (Maybe this has been answered already as I was typing)

2)- Your reference to dependency theory is very relevant. Yet, how does/did it impact the collaboration?

3)- I am so intrigued about how the participants referred to the collaboration as apprenticeship. Do you have any idea if it was disciplinary/ epistemological apprenticeship or linguistic?

01:08:47 CGHE Webinars: Thank you for joining us today. A recording of this session will be on the CGHE site tomorrow morning: <https://www.researchcghe.org/events/cghe-seminar/patterns-and-dynamics-in-the-international-research-collaborations-a-case-of-china-uk-collaboration-ties-in-education-studies/>

01:09:31 Trif Victorița: Thank you!

01:09:43 CGHE Webinars: Our next webinar will be on Tuesday, 'Internationalisation and global citizenship in higher education'. You can register here: <https://www.researchcghe.org/events/cghe-seminar/internationalisation-and-global-citizenship-in-higher-education/>

01:16:54 Bernard Lee: Thanks a lot for the inspiring presentation, Kexin! Thanks a lot for organising this wonderful webinar, Simon!

01:17:25 Xin Xu: Thank you very much, Kexin! Excellent presentation and discussion!

01:17:26 Lili Yang: Wonderful research and presentation Kexin! Thank you!

01:18:48 Lori Lee Wallace: Thank you!

01:18:56 Anoud Abusalim: Thank you!

01:19:11 Dan: thanks for sharing, it's quite interesting research, I'll be a new visiting scholar in cambridge, hope to follow your research ! thanks