

TEF: Constructing a 10-year roadmap

Aim: To collectively build a 10-year roadmap for the development of the TEF by actively examining different perspectives throughout the day, including student views on teaching excellence, the Norwegian teaching excellence initiatives, teaching excellence in schools, the HEFCE learning gain pilots, and the Scottish approach to enhancement. The outputs from the event will inform recommendations to the independent review of the TEF that will take place in 2018/19.

Agenda

10.00 - Welcome

10.10 – 10.30 Setting the agenda for the day – Professor Paul Ashwin

10.30 – 11.30 - The meaning of teaching excellence

International perspective - Helen Braten (NOKUT)

Student perspective – David Malcolm (NUS)

11.30 – 11.45 Refreshment Break

11.45 – 12.45 – Measuring teaching excellence

Learning Gain - James Zuccullo (Education Policy Institute)

Measurement of teaching excellence in schools - Professor Anna Vignoles (University of Cambridge)

12.45 - 1.30 - Lunch

1.30-2.30 How can TEF support enhancement?

What can TEF learn from Scottish Quality Enhancement Framework - Professor Murray Saunders (University of Lancaster)

AdvanceHE role in developing the TEF – Alison Johns (CEO, AdvanceHE)

2.45- 3.30 Constructing a road map for the TEF – Interactive plenary discussion facilitated by Professor Paul Ashwin

3.30-3.45 - Concluding remarks – Navigating the policy landscape to create change - Will Hammonds, Universities UK

3.45-4.00 - Refreshments and close